THE VOICE INC. ANNOUNCES DAME MEG TAYLOR AS PATRON

Secretary General of the Pacific Island Forum Secretariat, Dame Meg Taylor, has taken on the role of Patron for Papua New Guinean youth development organization, The Voice Inc (TVI).

In accepting the invitation to be patron, Dame Meg said “I am humbled and honoured that my young country women and men who are the future of my country would ask me to be Patron of The Voice Inc., an organization committed to the aspirations of our peoples to build a Nation based on the National Goals and Directive Principles of our Constitution.”

Dame Meg Taylor was the Patron for the organization’s inaugural Nation Builder’s Conference in 2016, where she imparted wisdom and shared thoughts on what it would take to build a sustainable future. TVI, recognizes the significant role Dame Meg Taylor has played in Nation Building and acknowledges her passion towards building the next generation of leaders, believing that wisdom and experience of generations before us, coupled with the energy of the youth, can bring about great change for the country.

The youth development organization runs leadership and active citizenship programs in universities and high schools, in Lae, Goroka and Port Moresby, and was established in 2007, by students from the University of Papua New Guinea. Interested students from the University of Technology and the University of Goroka have the opportunity to apply for The Voice Inc’s Leadership Development Program, during their orientation and registration weeks this month.
